Keynote Speaker

Jonathan Golding

Founding Director, OIC Group

Jonathan is the founding director of the OIC Group, a consulting firm that facilitates organizational and team success. For over 15 years, in the ground breaking fields of experiential learning and process consulting, he has helped organizations and individuals improve effectiveness, foster growth and develop strategies that sustain positive changes in shifting business environments. With his dynamic and personable style, Jonathan leads team building, break-through thinking and leadership development initiatives in both the public and the private sectors.

Jonathan has facilitated the teambuilding session and been a session instructor for the Chamber's John B. Gunter Community Leadership Initiative since 1999.

The Program

The first and most important characteristic of a leader is the decision to become a leader: to decide that you want to provide others with vision, direct the course of future events and inspire others to success.

Leadership is a winning combination of personal traits and the ability to think and act as a leader, a person who directs the activities of others for the good of all.

But you can't become a leader just by saying you are, and leadership is not defined simply by having followers. Leadership needs to be worked at--becoming a leader isn't easy because it takes a conscious commitment and consistent effort to develop one's leadership skills.

And as good leadership is critical to business success, your efforts to improve your leadership skills will benefit not only you, but your entire organization.

Start on your path to leadership by learning what it takes in this important seminar. Become the sculptor of your own career and life - not the sculpture.
